

Please ensure that the NAB lobbyists do not succeed in ruining the benefits I enjoy from listening to all aspects of satellite radio, including the weather-traffic channels. Since when should they have a monopoly on this information? The quality of classical music broadcast radio is rotten and died years ago in Washington DC. Its sole purpose is commercials. We used to have three complementary classical music stations. WETA now has endless commercials masquerading as fundraisers. Most of the day it broadcasts endless pseudo-academic, liberal-leaning banter. WGMS consumes most of the day on either commercials or endless pontificating punditry with mediocre musical programming of "dumbed-down Dvorak". Absolutely worthless. The old Adventist station that had a broad variety of music is now a bible-thumping station. These are the reasons I invested dearly in XM Radio. I have friends who made the same change for the similar reason as far away as Albuquerque.

If any restrictive measure are taken, it should be against the broadcasters who use our airwaves and broadcast bands for their sole financial gain and not the public interest and welfare. Quite frankly levy a tax against them to support the expansion of satellite radio!
